McCloskey International Welcomes CablePrice to Global Dealer Network

New addition to distribution channel will serve New Zealand as well as three territories in Oceania.

KEENE, ON –July 27, 2018 -- Screening and crushing industry leader McCloskey International has welcomed CablePrice (NZ) Ltd., a subsidiary of Hitachi Construction Machinery Co. Ltd., to its global network of distributors. The company will serve New Zealand, Fiji, New Caledonia and Tonga.

CablePrice is the only authorised dealer for Hitachi Construction Machinery, Scania Trucks & Buses and John Deere Construction & Forestry Equipment in the country, and actively support the construction, forestry, transport, agriculture, quarry & aggregate, mining and demolition industries of New Zealand. CablePrice (NZ) Limited dates back to 1951 when two companies, A & G Price and William Cable Ltd merged their merchandising interests.

McCloskey Dealer at Hillhead 2018.

Headquartered in Wellington, CablePrice's nationwide network of branches dealers and service centres offer expertise in the transport, rural contracting, construction, forestry, mining, and drilling industries. The McCloskey dealership was formalized at meetings taking place at Hillhead 2018, in Buxton UK, in June.

On announcing the new dealership for McCloskey equipment, Pat Ward, Managing Director of CablePrice noted that “The strength of our brand comes not only from demanding the highest level of service and assistance for our customers, but also from the world leading brands and products we support. Hitachi, John Deere, Bell Montabert, Scania & Isuzu* are among the most identifiable brands in the world, and we are excited to McCloskey International to the roster. They all have proud and strong reputations in their fields of expertise.”

“Having CablePrice on board will further strengthen our distribution network globally. New Zealand is a market with huge potential, particularly in quarrying and recycling. These present some unique and exciting possibilities that we anticipate will contribute to our growth in the marketplace,” said Paschal McCloskey, President and CEO, McCloskey International. “CablePrice has excellent relationships in both the public and private sector, and working together will benefit not only our companies but - more importantly - their customers. “

CablePrice.is in a strong position to support the sales of McCloskey equipment in the region, with fifteen locations across New Zealand offering sales and service. Mr. Ward noted that “with sustained and strong growth in the population and the required infrastructure, we anticipate equally strong growth in the aggregate sector. The strong focus nationally on developments including Roads of National Significance (RoNS) and improving regional links will reflect strong growth numbers through 2019 and beyond. Bringing McCloskey products to the market at this key time benefits our companies, and our customers.”
